

"Our mom didn't think she could save both of us.
Today no one can keep us apart."

Everyday Miracles.
At The High Risk Pregnancy Center,
we bring your dreams to life.

When Johanna was told by another doctor she had Twin-to-twin Transfusion Syndrome and there was little chance either baby would survive, she came to the High Risk Pregnancy Center for a second opinion. Several days later, she was having rare fetal surgery that saved both twins.

For the next five months we monitored her carefully until the day she delivered two healthy boys.

"Never give up hope," is the counsel Johanna now gives other moms with high risks. "I will love these doctors till the day I die... And so will my sons."

